

ECMC Research Nurse Network Group

Successful Nursing in a Phase I Environment

Tuesday 12 October 2021, 1-4pm - Part One

Tuesday 19 October 2021, 1-4pm – Part Two ecmc

Experimental
Cancer
Medicine
Centres

Training via Microsoft Teams

Registration is now OPEN

ECMC Research Nurse Network Group: Successful Nursing in a Phase I Environment

Tuesday 12 October 2021, 1-4pm (Part One) and Tuesday 19 October 2021, 1-4pm (Part Two)

Online training: delivered via Microsoft Teams

The ECMC Research Nurse Network Group is running training for adult and paediatric research nurses who have been working in early phase cancer research for around 3 to 18 months. The aim of this course is to equip new early phase research nurses to deliver high quality, patient-centred care within the regulatory framework. All delegates will receive a booklet which contains information to support you in your role. The training will be delivered over two sessions. The training will be very interactive, allowing for plenty of discussion on all aspects of being a research nurse working on early phase cancer trials.

Topics over the two training sessions include:

- Clinical development of a protocol
- Preparing to run a trial including site initiation visits and key relationships
- Running a trial including the importance of data
- End of study including how to speak to a patient coming off a trial

This is a great opportunity to meet other research nurses who are new to early phase trials and gain support from those in the field.

The training is free to attend, and you will need to attend both training sessions. Please contact Hannah Brown, Project Manager (hannah.brown@cancer.org.uk) if you have any queries.

Registration is open until 24 September, but we urge you to register as soon as possible, as spaces are limited. Please register for this event via Microsoft Forms: <https://forms.office.com/r/LyRNuLCLyQ>

Jointly funded by:

NIHR | National Institute for Health Research

